

ECCE STUDENTS' CLUB

This club will be an opportunity for ECCE students from all streams and years of the program to get together, discuss theories, explore challenges encountered bringing the classroom into the field and to use fellow students as resources. This club will be a forum where those who are interested in ECCE can discuss the challenges that our field faces. With the launch of the degree program many students have begun in depth research on complex theories and ideas that help to disrupt our thoughts about education and our practice in ECCE: This club hopes to be a stage where students can support one another and explore these complex theories together. We welcome all ECCE students, students interested in early childhood care and education and faculty to bring ideas for discussion. We hope to eventually be able to host guest speakers to provoke our thinking about early childhood, care and education.
